POPULAR YOUNG FOLKS CELEBRATE NUPTIALS

St. Luke's Episcopal church was the scene of a beautiful wedding last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock when the marriage of Miss Helen Elmina Bouton, only daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Joseph William Bouton and Donald Walker Bovaird, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bovaird of Bradford was solemnized. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William E. VanDyke, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, assisted by the Rev. F. Dean Miller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Bradford.

The church was handsomely decorated with Easter Lillies and smilax. William R. Davis of Bradford, presided at the organ and during the arrival of the guests rendered "Orange Blossoms" of MacMaster; "Bride's Song" of Strelezki; "Epithalamium" of Matthews; "Song of Gladness" by Sibley. He used the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" as a processional and "At the Altar" by Arensky was played softly during the ceremony. The nuptial party left the church to the strains of Mendelsson's "Wedding March."

The bride wore a beautiful robe of white lace embroidered with pearls and made en traine. Her tulle veil was caught at both sides with orange blossoms and her bouquet was a shower of lillies of the valley and bride roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. Robert Digel, was attired in a handsome gown of salmon chiffon and the bridesmaids, Miss Katherine McLane of Newark N. J., Miss Marjorie Davis, Miss Ruth Kessler and Miss Helen Gleason, were charming in dresses made of Georgette in the pastel shades; Miss McLane, green; Miss Davis, tangerine; Miss Kessler, orchid, and Miss Gleason, blue. The gifts were many and beautiful, including silver, glass china, linen, money and furniture and showed the high esteem in which both young people are held by their wide circle of friends.

The bride's gift to her matron of honor was a pair of earrings and to her bridesmaids she gave novelty bracelets, while the groom presented his best man with a fountain pen and the ushers with gold pencils.

The bride is one of Smethport's most charming and popular young women and a leader in the younger social set. She is a graduate of Smethport High school and of Miss Baird's school at Orange, N. J. THEIVES STEAL TWO CARS AND ONE IS BURNED

Early last evening two automobiles were stolen from the most central part of the city and at an hour when the main thoroughfare was thronged with people. One of the machines was wheeled away from in front of the Elks' club house, and the other from Pine street.

Gerard Goodman had his mother's Peerless sedan out last evening and parked it in front of the Elks' club house at 5 o'clock. Not long afterward he found that the car was missing and could not be found. He reported the theft to the police and a search was made but without result until today, when the machine was located on a hill about one mile and one-fourth beyond no 3 reservoir on the Willow Creek road. Not much remained of the machine, however, for it had been destroyed by fire but what there was left was headed towards Bradford.

As soon as it was learned that the car was out the Willow Creek road, Chief of Polce Solt and Arthur Bauer, with whom the car was insured, motored to the point where the charred remains stood, and made an investigation. It is the firm belief of the chief that the fire was no accident, but that whoever stole the car had something to do with its destruction, after taking good long rides in it.

The Goodman car was towed to the Ideal Garage today, where it will be viewed by insurance adjusters. The car was purchased about two months ago and was practically as good as new. It is covered fortunately, by insurance.

The other machine stolen last night belonged to Thomas Farrer of 58 Clarence street. The car had been parked on Pine street, from which thieving hands drove it early in the evening. The car, which is a Cheyrolet touring car, was found this morning on Hilton street, without gas. The car was towed to the police station, where the owner procured it. The car was none the worse for its adventure, meeting with better fate than the Goodman car.—Bradford Star-Record, Sat.

CAR WAS DAMAGED; NO ONE WAS HURT

Banke Custer, Edward Haynes, and five other men, who were on their way home from Mt. Jewett after midnight, where they had attended a dance, had a narrow escape from being seriously injured when the large Cadillac car, driven by Custer, left the road at the sharp bend at Kanesholm switch. Before the auto came to a halt it turned around three times, plowing up the dirt and hitting the ground with such force that both front wheels were crushed, the axle badly bent and other damage done. The young men were fortunate that the car kept in an upwright position. This was due to the fact that it had a clear path in the course that it took after it left the road. The wrecked car was brought to the Kane Garage for repairs.—Kane Republican, Friday.

A. J. BOND WAS INJURED WEDNESDAY

Bradford, June 14.—At an early hour this morning the condition of County Commissioner A. J. Bond, who was injured yesterday afternoon, was reported improved at the Bradford hospital. The accident ocurred at the Kendall avenue railway switch yesterday morning, while a consignment of iron tanks, weighing about 500 pounds was being unloaded. One of the tanks rolled from a truck near which Mr. Bond was standing, striking him and knocking him to the ground. The injured man was removed to his home and later to the hospital, where he is being attended by Dr. G. E. Benninghoff.

CARS CRASH ON FRALEY STREET SATURDAY

Two cars, one an Essex, owned by David Peterson, of the Smethport road, and the other an Overland roadster owned and driven by Richard Legestrom of this city, crashed on Fraley street, in front of the Arcade restaurant about noon Saturday. Legestrom had just entered his car that was parked at the curb back of another car, and when he started to the middle of the street he failed to look around or give a signal, and Peterson, who was driving in the same direction, did have a chance to stop. The cars sideswiped and the Overland was quite badly damaged on the left front end. Both men talked the matter over, but according to traffic rules and regulations, Legestrom was to blame for the crash, and so the matter stands.—Kane Republican, Saturday.

DR. AND MRS. BURG CHADWICK GIVE DELIGHTFUL ACCOUNT OF BERMUDA

Dr. and Mrs. Burg Chadwick who returned Monday from a trip to Bermuda, give a glowing account of their trip. They left New York on the Steam Ship Fort Victoria, a boat 425 feet long and 50 feet wide the voyage which lasted two days and two nights was most enjoyable. Upon arrival at the city of Hamilton, they found it to be altogether different from our northern cities. The buildings were low nearly all one story, and built of native stone, cut from the quarries with a cross cut saw, allowed to harden in the air, then cemented inside and outside and whitewashed, indeed the whole city presented a view of dazzling whiteness. The roads are good, but narrow and short, and no automobiles are used bicycles, riding horses and carriages being the means of conveyance.

Whole fields are white with beautiful lilies, stately palms line the roads, and the Royal Ponciana tree is a blaze of color.

All potatoes raised there are planted from seed from Long Island, as this is the only seed which will grow there.

It is an anglers paradise, if one does not catch a fish within five minutes after dropping in his hook he knows there are sharks about, otherwise he can catch all he can haul in.

The climate is perfect, never above 85 degres or below 60, frosts are unknown.

Dorothy and her sister, Rosemary, aged 13, were in the business section of St. Mary's Saturday evening, in front of the Jacob and Keller store. Someone gave the younger tot a box of torpedoes, the 4th of July variety that explode when thrown against a solid subject. The little girl thought they were good to eat and placed one in her mouth. When she bit into the pebble filling around the powder cap it exploded.

Witnesses of the accident hurried the child to the hospital in an automobile.

WELCOME NEWS IS RECEIVED IN KANE REGARDING ROAD.

The following communication tells in an interesting manner one of the most welcome pieces of news that Kane has received in a long time.

Kane, Penna., June 14, 1923.—Telegrams received yesterday afternoon too late to appear in that issue the General Kane Highway House Bill No. 149, had passed the Senate. This road, it is believed, will have the hard surfacing begun upon shortly at this end—possibly this season—the remainder to follow in due course. Thus, Kane is tied on to the populous and fertile farming country to the South as well as the cities of Butler and Pittsburgh by the shortest and best route, that via the old Big Level which General Kane originally worked out on horseback. Over this highway, reliable experts predict, 90% of all travel between Pittsburgh and Buffalo will pass; an immense amount of trade will be brought through Kane and all our ridge farmers will also benefit as they deserve.

TWO LARGE ELKS SEEN NEAR KANE

Kane, June 19.—E. O. Carson, a carpenter, who lives on the Jo Jo road, about one and a half miles from Kane saw a strange animal in a pasture, adjoining the woods on his place about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. His first sight of the animal gave him the impression that it was an old horse belonging to him which had been astray for a couple of days. He moved closer and then discovered the animal was a full grown elk—a female of the species. He called to his wife to come and see the sight and his voice alarmed the animal which started toward the farm of John Selin, which adjoins the Carson's place, in the direction of Kane.

Mr. Carson started over to the Selin farm to arouse the family and while he was gone his wife saw a bull elk come out of the woods into the pasture and remain in sight several minutes and then turned back into the woods.

The Carsons also notified Adolph Halling's family, whose farm adjoins theirs on the other side, but by the time Selin and Halling got out doors both elks had disappeared.

It is surmised that the animals have strayed from one of the game preserves in this part of the state and game wardens and helpers will now have the job on their hands of heading the animals back to the reservation where they will not run the danger of molestation from dogs or lawless game-killers.

REINDEER PROVE BOON TO ALASKA

Herds, Unknown 33 Years Ago, Now Number 250,000 With $6,250,000 Value.

Washington.—Reindeer have taken the place of the whale, seal and walrus as food in Alaska, according to the bureau of education of the Department of the Interior. It is estimated that there are about 250,000 reindeer, with a valuation of $6,500,000, in Alaska.

"Thirty-three years ago there was not a single reindeer in Alaska," the bureau of education said. "At that time the Alaskan Eskimos were eking out a precarious existence upon the few whale, seal and walrus that they were able to catch. Dr. Sheldon Jackson, United States general agent of education in Alaska, was then making a tour of the important villages along Alaskan and Siberian shores, and across the Bering strait, but a few miles away, with climate and country exactly the same, there were tens of thousands of tame reindeer supporting thousands of natives.

Funds Were Raised.

"Returning to Washington, Doctor Jackson brought the matter to the attention of the commissioner of education and a fund was raised by private subscription to introduce the reindeer in Alaska. Out of a sum of some $2,146 the commissioner purchased 16 reindeer in 1891 and 171 in 1892 in Siberia and brought them to Alaska across Bering strait. Since then congress has made annual appropriations ranging from $5,000 to $25,000, with the result that these small herds have multiplied until the total number of reindeer has now reached 250,000, the latest figure.

"It is estimated that there are in northern and western Alaska over 200,000 square miles of treeless regions that are worthless for agricultural purposes because of the extremely cold climate, but which will furnish pasturage for at least 4,000,000 reindeer from which can be drawn a tremendous meat supply. Besides being used for meat, the reindeer are used by the Eskimos to furnish milk, their skin provides clothing and bedding and in the frigid winter season they are used for rapid communication between scattered villages.

Natives Instructed.

"A systematic instruction of the natives in the herding of reindeer is now carried out by the bureau of education. The plan consists of selecting young Eskimos as apprentices for a term of four years during which they are instructed in the herding of the reindeer. At the end of each year they are given a prescribed number of reindeer. Upon the satisfactory termination of their apprenticeship the natives become herders and assume entire charge of their herds. In order to safeguard the reindeer industry the regulations of the bureau of education forbid the disposal of female reindeer to other than natives of Alaska. There are restrictions regarding their being killed for meat."

Deep-Sea Mining Is Predicted by Engineers

Sydney, N. S.—Engineers in time will be able to take coal and iron ore from under the sea at distances of five miles or more from shore, according to F. W. Gray, an executive of the British Empire Steel corporation. Workings already extend two and a quarter miles to sea at Sydney mines, and 70 per cent of the coal produced in Nova Scotia comes from beneath the ocean.

The cost of bringing deposits to the surface rather than failure of the seams, will place a limit on submarine mining operations, Mr. Gray thinks.

Although coal is being taken from under the sea at several points in Great Britain, Australia, Japan and China, the Nova Scotia coal areas and the iron mines at Wabana, Newfoundland, are the scenes of the largest undersea mining workings in the world. According to Mr. Gray, they are capable of indefinite expansion, some of the Wubana seams being 35 feet thick.

Inundation is the greatest danger added to the usual hazards of land operations. Engineering skill, however, has reduced the number of these accidents, the oldest of which occurred at the Takashima colliery in Japan, where many lives were lost, and on the Cumberland coast in England in 1834, where 30 men were drowned.

Elizabethtown, Ky.—Roy Bond, one of Elizabethtown's star fishermen, made the record catch for the season at Nolin. He caught with hook and line twelve small-mouth black bass which weighed 21 pounds. Three of them weighed three pounds and 14 ounces.

Only Insignia of Kind Ever to Leave Russia

The picture shows the solid gold decoration of the "Order of St. Andrew of Russia," which weighs two pounds. Only five of these ever were made and this is the only one that has been given outside of Russian territory. It is now the property of a guest of the Hotel McAlpin in New York City. This jewel was given to the Grand Duke Michael Nicolaivitch by the czar.

Youthful Checkers Champ of the United States

He is back at school now, where he is continuing his studies. He has been playing the game for about five years.

Soviet Is Winning Fight Against Veils

Moscow.—Communist party workers say they now are at last having some effect in their campaign to modernize the Moslem women of the Near East.

It took hundreds of communist "missionaries" nearly two years in some localities to persuade the women, to remove their high veils and participate in politics.

Now, in Adjerbijan alone, however, more than 22,000 women have organized in industrial activity, while workshops for feminine Mohammedans, where they are taught that the role of woman is far different from that of the usual Moslem conceptions, have been established by hundreds in Turkestan, Bokhara and elsewhere.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

GYPSIES WERE ORDERED OUT OF THE CITY

William Gould, a driver for the Miles-Kane company, had an adventure yesterday with a large band of gypsies on the highway between men in the wandering band halted him and when he stopped the truck he was driving, questioned him concerning the roads of the vicinity. Mr. Gould had a truck load of produce and the provisions probably looked good to the gypsies. At any rate they swarmed around the truck and one of the women climed to the seat and insisted that she was going to tell the driver's fortune.

Mr. Gould was convinced that the intention of the band was to distract his attention and then loot the truck so he treated the gypsy princess with scant ceremony, but she was hard to get rid of. Finally he fairly shoved her off the truck and drove away.

The band in seven automobiles then came on to Kane where Chief of of Police Fowler, who had received word of their coming was looking for them. However they parked on Greeves street and seven of the women scattered to start their fortune telling activities before the police spotted them. The women were rounded up and sent back to the cars and the gypsies were notified to get out of Kane as quick as they could, and they obeyed the order.—Kane Republican, Saturday.

OLEAN TO STAGE CAMPAIGN AGAINST RATS AND MICE

A rat campaign, the first to ever be conducted in this city will open Monday under the direction of J. R. Waterhouse. The campaign whih rids any locality of vermins infected rats is given backing by the State Health Board.

Barium Carbonate one of the most effective poisons against rats is used. It is fed in small quantities to the rodent which eagerly eats it and seeks a place or its hole in which to die. The use of Barium Carbonate is recommended by the United States Public Health Service and all residents who have rats on their premises are urged to give the campaign serious consideration.—Olean Evening Herald, Saturday.

HENNING OLSON WHO WAS BURNED A WEEK AGO DIED

The death of Henning G. Olson, who was badly burned from an explosion of gas at a well near McKinley station, one week ago today, occurred at the Kane Summit hospital this morning at 9 o'clock. In company with Amel Latt he was engaged in pulling tubing when the gas from the well ignited from an electric switch, catching the men in a mass of flame that burned them so badly that Latt lived less than two days. Mr. Olson has been in a precarious condition ever since, and very little hope was held out for his recovery from the start.

Mr. Olson was employed by Kennedy & Wood as an oil worker for the past 4 years. He was aged 28 years and was born on the Highland road, November 12, 1892. He was an ex-service man, and served in the Tank corp over seas for nearly a year. He was married to Miss Lena Hayes of East Kane, two years ago, and besides his wife he is survived by a seven-months old son, Harold Wallace Olson, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olof Olson, one sister, Miss Ida Olson, and brother, Albert Olson.

The funeral services were conducted under the auspices of the American Legion, were held on Sunday afternoon from the Swedish Lutheran church, Rev Dr. L. H. Beck, officiating. Interment took place in Forest Lawn cemetery.—Kane Republican, Saturday.

Mirage in History.

A mirage is an optical illusion, by which images of distant objects are seen often as if inverted, below the ground or raised in the atmosphere. It is frequently observed on the western plains of Canada and the United States. "The phenomenon is best observed in the Egyptian or other deserts, and the inverted images so much resemble these made in water as to create the illusion that a lake is really near. The mirage was known in ancient Jewish times. It is mentioned in Isaiah 35:7: "And the parched ground shall become a pool and the thirsty land springs of water." The Fata Morgana, what sailors call the "loomings," the Flying Dutchman, the Enchanted Island, Cape Flyaway, etc., are all produced by the mirage.

Held Commanding Position.

A countryman was in charge of a couple of live hares, which he was conveying by rail. He had to change at a station and wait some time.

To pass the time he took the basket in which the hares were confined outside the station and put it down in the road. The lid had been tied down loosely, and one of the hares managed to get out.

The man rushed after it, but all to no purpose; and just as he got back the other hare jumped out and ran away in the opposite direction.

The countryman made no attempt to follow, but, pointing first one way and then the other, said: "Do you go there and do you go there if you like. I've got the tickets."

WHY SHOULD WE SEEK EUROPE'S GREATER HATRED?

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt says, upon her return from abroad, that she wishes more Americans would travel in Europe in order that they might learn in what low esteem this country is held on the other side of the Atlantic.

It is unnecessary for Americans to go to Europe to learn this. It is reflected in what is said about this country by our Europeanized Americans, who instead of being indignant at Europe's ingratitude for the blood and treasure poured out by this country in the cause of civilization without the hope of material recompense, assume that if Europe is displeased with the United States it must be the fault of this country.

If Europe holds this country in low esteem because of the sacrifices we have already made in Europe's behalf, is it wise that we should make ourselves still more hated and misunderstood by making more sacrifices?

It is evident that Americans understand Europe better than Europe understands the Americans. This may in part be accounted for by the fact that we have sent so many Americans abroad who have tried to make themselves popular at the expense of their country and their men. Starting with President Wilson, who led the Europeans to believe that the United States was in duty bound to feed, finance and fight the wars of Europe for all time to come because of the great obligation to mankind under which we had placed ourselves when we entered the European war, and the great reward we were going to get with the league of nations elected a world president.—National Republican.

PINCHOT'S REMARKABLE VICTORY.

When the legislature adjourned on Thursday a remarkable session was brought to an end. It was remarkable because Principles, not Politics, won. There were no bickers with politicians. Governor Pinchot even refused to appoint floor leaders. He had come to office with a definite programme which had been his platform in the campaign. So distinctly outlined were the reforms which he promised that there was no getting away from them. Therefore, while the domination the Legislature to an amazing extent, this domination was moral, not political.

He stood for prohibition enforcement, and his enforcement bill was adopted, although an item of $250,000 rather vaguely described as a special fund for law enforcement, was cut out of the appropriations bill.

He found a deficit piled up by a previous administration. He promised, if given his way, to clear that out and put the State on a firm financial footing with a clean slate. He brought in a budget, designing to prevent expenditures to overrun the income. He submitted a reorganized code under which the entire business administration of the government, except for the officials of departments that are elective, could be ripped out. On Friday the old system terminated and a thorough reorganization was begun directly under the control of the Governor. The idea is to get rid of useless employees and to coordinate all administrative branches for efficiency and economy. A tremendious proposition this. But the Legislature awallowed it—was forced to.

Mr. Pinchot found the school situation in a tangle, with many millions of dollars needed for increased salaries for teachers and one thing or another. The only way to meet this requirement, if the huge deficit was to be disposed of, was by some method of taxation of a temporary nature. That method was found. Profits of corporations and gasoline and liquid fuel will bear the burden for two years, when the law will cease to operate.

These were the big things. The way has been cleared for economical administration. Other accomplishments included what has been called a "giant power survey," which is something of exceeding importance, and the beginning of the complete reorganization of the antiquated prison system.

No administration that we can recall has carried itself to victory without dealing with and knuckling down to master politicians. Governor Pinchot has stood alone a commanding general depending upon his own ideas of right and making no promises whatever. He is as independent today at the close of the legislative session as he was when it began.

Remarkable? It is unheard of.—Philadelphia Inquirer June 17.

CABLE SNAPS; MAN KILLED AT BRADFORD

Bradford, June 15.— John Kutchmire, aged 24 years, of 144 South avenue, employed as foreman on the loading station for the Dennis Construction company, which is rebuilding the Sawyer City road, was instantly killed yesterday morning at 7:45 o'clock, while at work at the loading station, which is located on the B. R. & P. switch, near the foot of Penn avenue.

At this station is a huge crane which is used for unloading sand, cement and stone from trains and for loading the same on trucks. A longer boom was placed on the crane yesterday morning, and when a cable snapped in two it fell, crushing Kutchmire between it and the old boom, which had just been removed and was lying on the ground.

A short boom which crushed the man is made of steel and weighs over a ton, it instantly crushed out the life of the victim caught between the iron jaws. The boom falling from above caught the foreman across his chest and crushed it as if it had been paper. His death was instant.

Believing there might be a hidden spark of life left in the man's body, Frank McAllister of Still's undertaking establishment, who responded with the ambulance at the scene of the accident, placed Mr. Kutchmire in the ambulance and took him with all haste to the Bradford hospital, where Drs. Hogan and Patton examined the body as it lay in the conveyance. They found that life was extinct and that the man had been killed instantly. The body was taken to Still's undertaking rooms and prepared for burial.

When the relatives of the deceased were notified of the sad fatality they were shocked beyond expression.

The accident was peculiar and unusual, inasmuch as the cable that snaped and released the boom which crushed him, was spliced by Mr. Kutchmire himself Wednesday evening. It was this very splicing that accidently pulled apart and was the direct cause of his life being crushed from his body. The cable was spliced together with clasps.

Mr. Kutchmire was a lifelong resident of Degolia, where his parents still reside. He wa sa member of Co. C, 112th regiment, and served his country in the World war in France, where he was wounded twice, once in the shoulder and once in the arm. He was a soldier brave and true and was highly regarded by his comrades. He was a member of John C. Roche Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars of this city.

The young man was hit by a bullet from a machine gun while delivering important messages under heavy fire.—Bradford Star-Record, Friday.

TESTIMONIALS:
GOITRE.

I thought there was no cure for a Goitre, so I let mine go until I saw something had to be done. I read Dr. Brown's advertisement and decided to take up his treatment. My Goitre was very large and a stubborn one to cure, but to say as little as possible of Dr. Brown he has cured me. I found his treatment pleasant, agreeable and thorough.

Jamestown, N. Y., Oct. 25, 1915
Dear Dr. Brown:—

I have been bothered with a Goiter for many years, and I thought there was no cure, until I read about Dr. Brown's treatment. My Goitre was as big as a large goose egg, and now I am thankful to say that it is all gone, and I find the medicine pleasant to take in every way. Anyone having a goitre I would advise Dr. Brown's treatment.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. JOHN HULT,
170 Baker St.

Niagara Co., N. Y., Johnson Creek, Sept. 19, 1913.
Dr. Brown:—

My Goitre is all gone and I feel thankful for it. I went to doctors in Buffalo and Lockport and Gasport and Middleport and Johnson's Creek before I saw you and I did not get any help. Any one with a Goitre I would advise Dr. Brown's treatment as it was that that cured me. It was an old one and very large. I had quit work. Yours,

William Hartley,
38 Middleport, N. Y.

FEMALE COMPLAINT.

Dr. Brown, Jamestown, N. Y.
Dear Sir:—

I feel it my duty to express my gratitude for the good which your medicines has done me. For the past ten years I have suffered from female weakness. I went to many doctors, but none could do me any good. I commenced taking your medicine and with the first doses I realized I was getting better, and now after continuing your medicine for three months, am well and strong, and find that it is a wonderful medicine for female weakness. After my experience I will recommend it to anyone.

Mrs. Minnie Windell,
East Oak Hill, N. Y.

DEAFNESS CURED.

I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Brown to persons who are deaf. I was completely discouraged, as I have been very deaf for ten years, gradually getting worse. All kinds of noises in my ears which kept me awake all night, and could not hear well, and feel that the results of the treatment are wonderful. I am 75 years old.

Emery Woodard,
Jamestown, R. F. D. 83.

HEART DISEASE.

I have been afflicted with valvular disease of the heart for 5 years caused by Rheumatism, and I doctored and got no relief until I treated with Dr. Brown. I have taken his treatment. I am now well and strong, and feel like a new man. I now sleep well, and my catarrah of the stomach is also cured.

Gust A. Anderson,
16 Maple St., City.

CATARRH.

I had catarrh all through my system; in my stomach, head, nose, and throat. Even my liver and kidneys were afflicted, and my bowels as well. I was nervous, tired easily, slept poorly and suffered from headaches, dizziness and constipation. I had irregular appetite, poor digestion and as troubled with pains in my stomah and back.

It was easy for me to take a bad cold and I was continually bothered with dryness in my throat and the hawking and spitting of mucus. Every morning I got up with a coated tongue, bad taste in my mouth and feeling anything but fit to do a good day's work.

All of my old troubles have disappeared. The Medicine helped me wonderfully and I cannot begin to say enough in its favor.

N. Brownell Allen St. City.

An Oversight.

Prof.—Didn't say anything about the crux of the position?

Bright Student—No, sir.

"Hum! I meant to work that phrase off somehow."—Columbia Jester.

ANTIQUITY OF WISDOM

Grace—I read where they are making sugar out of sawdust now.

Mabel—Well, I don't see anything wonderful about that. Mother Eve made a dress out of a fig leaf.

Can't Be Done.

"I'm willing for my wife
To have her way," said Mister Day.
"The trouble is, alas,
She never lets me have my way."

Had Him Guessing.

She—I saw you calling at Miss Pryde's house yesterday. Was she home?

He—That's what I've been wondering.

Describing Him.

"Very bald, is he not?"

"Yes," replied old Gaunten Grimm. "When his hat blows off and he drops his eyeglasses he is practically undressed."

No Cause for Alarm.

Patient (feebly)—I suppose your bill will be awfully large this time, doc?

Doctor—Don't you worry about that; it's going to be paid by your heirs.

COW UNDER TEST CONDITION

Animal Produces Sixty Per Cent More Milk and Butterfat Than When With Herd.

Why cows under test conditions produce on the average 60 per cent more milk and butterfat than those kept under ordinary herd conditions is a problem the dairy division, United States Department of Agriculture, is still unable to solve. In the recent annual report of the bureau of animal industry, it is stated that only 20 per cent of the increase has been satisfactorily accounted for. Five per cent was due to keeping cows in box stalls compared with stanchions.

Other experiments conducted on the government farm at Beltsville, Md., show that with cows of average production irregular milking was not detrimental to milk and butterfat production and that the cost of production is increased when cows are exercised to the extent of being driven three miles a day. However, exercise was found to increase slightly the fat content.

A considerable number of calves were fed with a nipple as compared with drinking from a pail. Results showed no advantage in using nipples.

Pectin pulp, a by-product in the manufacture of pectin from apple pomace, was found to be less palatable, and less valuable as a dairy feed than beet pulp.

The use of molasses in the dairy ration is not justifiable, the government report shows, for a group of cows that were given molasses in addition to the regular ration produced slightly less than the group that received the regular ration only.

A 20-year experiment, now in progress at Manhattan, Kan., will determine to what extent milk production can be developed without sacrificing desirable beef type. The work was started in 1915 and Shorthorn cattle are being used.

PASTURED ON SWEET CLOVER

Good Results Obtained in Test Made at Michigan Station—No Trouble From Bloating.

Four cows, receiving approximately one pound of grain for four pounds of milk produced and pastured on 1.46 acres of sweet clover for 177 cow days, maintained their weight and produced 8,088.6 pounds of milk and 291 pounds of fat, according to O. E. Reed and J. E. Burnett of the Michigan experiment station. At the start of the test the clover was 37 to 42 inches high, and another portion yielded 2.75 tons of hay to the acre. Over 40 per cent of the plants were in bud and nearly 15 per cent were in bloom at that time. When first turned on the pasture three of the cows did not eat the clover readily, but they soon relished it. No signs of bloating were noted throughout the experiment.

SKIM MILK RATION FOR CALF

Substitution Can Be Made In Week or Ten Days After Animal Is Two Weeks Old.

When the calf is two weeks old it can be gradually changed from a ration of whole milk to one of skim milk by substituting an equal amount of skim milk for each portion of whole milk removed. The plan of substitution is based on the supposition that the farmer can secure a limited amount of skim milk. A complete substitution can be secured in a week or ten days. When this substitution has been completed, a medium-sized calf ought to be receiving about twelve pounds of milk daily.

DAIRY HINTS

Everything about the calf should be scrupulously clean.

* * *

Quarters must be clean and dry, with plenty of bedding.

* * *

A scrub bull is worth something to the butcher, nothing to you.

* * *

Good cows may be obtained by purchase and by breeding and testing.

* * *

Marks for identification should be plain, without disfiguring the animal.

* * *

Stanchions save milk and prevent the calves from sucking one another.

* * *

Good ventilation is absolutely necessary to the health and comfort of the cows.

* * *

Are you feeding your dairy cows for production or for just keeping them alive?

* * *

A man should not be satisfied with cows that produce only 200 pounds of butterfat.

* * *

Calf diseases are largely the result of filth and carelessness. Prevention is cheapest and best.

* * *

Cows are greatly creatures of habit, and regularity of feeding at all times is essential for best results.

* * *

It costs about as much to raise a calf of inferior breeding, as one with genuine dairy characteristics.

DAIRY FACTS

SUPERIOR SIRES HELP DAIRY

Improvement Means Mating of Females Already in Herd With Purebred Bulls.

In most cases dairy herd improvement must mean the mating of such females as are already in the herd with a superior male, says the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. If the superior characters in the sire are more likely to be transmitted than the less desirable ones in the dams, the sire's more desirable qualities will predominate in the daughters.

One of the most outstanding examples of what a good sire can do in a purebred herd is in the case of Emblegaard Tritonia Homestead. This bull, still unproved, was purchased in 1911 by the University of Illinois, but his ancestors had been excellent as producers or as transmitters of production. The first ten daughters of this bull to freshen gave as two-year-olds an average increased production over that of their dams of 3,907.7 pounds of milk and 160.65 pounds of butterfat.

The value of good purebred sires in grading up scrub or grade cows was shown at the Iowa State college in an experiment starting in 1907. Native scrub cattle from Arkansas were graded up through the continuous use of purebred sires. The granddaughters had an average increase of 4,471.7 pounds of milk and 186.60 pounds of butterfat over their scrub dams.

FALL CALVES ARE PREFERRED

Young Animal Develops Sufficiently During Winter to Get Some Good From Pasture.

With many farmers it is the practice to have the cows freshen in the spring. There is much to be said in favor of fall calving. In a fall-calving schedule, there is usually more available help for caring for the calf and it gets better attention during the first few months of its life. The fall calf is kept in the barn and is more constantly under the observation of the caretaker, so that any disturbance is much more likely to be detected.

During the winter months the calf develops sufficiently so that by the following spring it is old enough to get some good from the pasture. A six-months-old calf cannot, however, depend entirely on pasture for its feed. Flies and hot weather are particularly bad for the little calf and spring calves suffer a great deal because of them.

It requires a great deal of care and attention to give the calf a proper start. Such attention is seldom given when the crops are being put in and cultivated. There are other practical advantages of fall freshening which do not directly affect the calf. The dairy farmer can usually plan his breeding so that the majority of his calves will be dropped at the most favorable season of the year.

DETERMINE VALUE OF BULL

Do Not Send Animal to Butcher Until He Has Had Chance to Prove Himself.

It is a mistake to dispose of a bull that has any prospects whatever until his true value is determined by his progeny. Many a dairy bull has gone to the block only for it to be found later on that some of his daughters are making fine records. You cannot tell much about the record of a bull until he is about five years old, and he has to be about seven years old before much can be told of his breeding qualities. Do not butcher an animal that may be the making of your herd, until he has had a fair chance to prove himself.

ESSENTIAL TO MILK COW DRY

Pays to Spend Few Minutes in Stripping Udder to Make Sure of Getting All Milk.

Milking cows dry is essential. When milk is left in the udder after each milking, the glands will gradually slow up on secreting milk and ultimately the cow will dry up. It pays to spend a few extra minutes stripping the udder to make certain that all the milk has been extracted.

ROOTS DESIRABLE FOR COWS

Greatest Objection to Mangels Is Amount of Labor Involved in Harvesting.

Mangels or roots make a very desirable feed for dairy cows. The greatest objection is the labor involved in growing, harvesting and storing them. This renders them more expensive than silage and for this reason they are seldom grown in large quantities where it is practical to build silos and fill them with a satisfactory crop.

Pigs Require Good Care.

It isn't the number of pigs that are farrowed so much as the number saved that counts. The first ten days in a pig's life are the most critical. Give both sow and her litter special attention then.

Benefits From Cows.

Cows earn while they are making the soil richer. During the bad weather when farmers cannot work in the field they may feed and milk cows and thus receive wages for their labor in addition to improving the soil.

Has Anyone Laughed At You Because—

By ETHEL R. PEYSER

You Keep a Cash Account? Let the roosters laugh! You are on the track of wealth, health and ease. The cash account tells you at once where you "get on" and where you "get off." There is no speculation—it is sure fire. You know what you have, what you are and what you can spend. Setting down each penny makes you think before spending idiotically. Many an idiotically spent penny makes a good-sized fortune. The cash account is insurance against a misspent life! It really is. There should be a law about it. If the thrift societies would tackle this, real thrift would be born! Not until then.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

RICHES THAT COUNT

IN THE humble cot, in the haughty palace, on the narrow byways and the broad highways, and among all the peoples of the world, the seeking of riches that endure that resist the moth and the mold of time—ought to be man's first duty.

How many of us in our blind worship of wealth pause to consider duty at all?

We are intoxicated by the enchantment of the universal chase, forget everything else but the elusive yellow metal, taunting us with its musical ring and masterly power.

A strange dizziness, a stab of an unseen knife at the heart, and a sickening weariness pull us for a brief period, but in a little while we resume the chase again with more fervor than ever, and keep it up until we drowsily awake to the fact that the years are marking our faces with lines and steadily filling awhy our lives.

We become sober-minded. We gaze ruefully upon the wonderful masterpiece we were painting. We discover that we have not yet found the right tone or a right color.

Our hand is not so dexterous as it was; our eye is not so keen; time has dulled our senses and robbed us of our judgment of values.

We are dismayed as we look back upon the past and terrified as we endeavor to peer into the future.

Then dawns upon us the realization that it is not money piled in banks, which we may draw at pleasure, that constitutes wealth; not titles to landed possessions, horses, furnishings, automobiles, nor rich raiments and jewels that give affluence to humans, but that which they carry with them in their souls.

We are all humans and very much alike, tottering on unsteady feet down toward the dark valley while there is yet light enough to see around us.

And what do we see?

We see that grandeur and nobility of character, the sweetness and helpfulness we bestow upon others, the smiles, the hand-clasps we give to the destitute and the afflicted, are the riches that endure, and illuminate our way in the night of the mystic voyage into an unknown world.

CONFIDENCE

By GRACE E. HALL

YOU cannot bring it back, that mystic thing
You tore to bits, as children rend a flower
Through lack of thought. Ah, no! the bitterest sting
Is that you had it once within your power
And crushed it! But that day is past and gone,
The bud despoiled by ruthless hand is left
With all its beauty wasted, pale and wan;
And even of its fragrance quite bereft.
And so this spirit-thing shall not unfold
In promised sweetness, nor its perfume live;
Despoiled and bruised, it now lies dead and cold
For lack of nurturing you failed to give.
You cannot bring it back! Each petal rare
Was fashioned and deep-tinted in my heart
Through years of conscious homage, rendered fair
And paid without a question, as your part;
But one by one you plucked and threw aside
The tender blossoms that I freely gave;
Faith sadly grieves where that exotic died,
And Memory keeps lone vigil o'er its grave.

B. & O. TRAIN HIT A MOTOR TRUCK ON CROSSING

F. H. Dynes, of this city, one of the drivers of the Atlantic Refining company's large gasoline trucks, had a narrow escape from being hurt, yesterday in the vicinity of Sheffield Junction, 16 miles from Kane, on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, when the front end of his truck was struck by the B. & O. passenger train, that is due to arrive here at 4:15 p. m. The accident occurred near a bad curve. Haynes claimed he did not see or hear the train until he was on the crossing which is a few feet above the level of the road.

The truck was moving slowly at the time, so he stopped and put the car in reverse and backed up, but did not quite clear the tracks. The train struck the front end of the truck and hurled it to one side, away from the train. It did not turn over and the driver was saved from injury. The truck was quite badly damaged and was left at Marienville for temporary repairs.—Kane Republican, Saturday.
